■ PREPARED FOR

Onyx Nail Bar

Website Audit & Growth Plan · Nail salon

A free, no-obligation look at how Onyx Nail Bar shows up online today, and what we would do about it.

■ THE SHORT VERSION

You are winning the search. Onyx Nail Bar is first in the nail salon map pack in Highland Village, first on the plain results for two of the three searches we ran and second on the third, with 694 reviews behind it. Almost nothing in this report is about being found. It is about what happens in the ten seconds after somebody finds you. Your Google listing carries no link to your website, so the most visited thing you own does not point at the thing you paid for. And the site it would point at is a single page.

■ WHAT IS ALREADY WORKING

- 4.5 stars from 694 Google reviews. That is the largest body of feedback in this whole batch of audits and it is the thing nobody can build for you.
- First in the map pack for nail salons in Highland Village, first on the plain results for two searches and second on a third. Google has already decided you belong at the top here.
- Your phone number is tappable on the page, in several places. That sounds small. It is the single most commonly missing thing we check, and you have it.

DIMENSION	GRADE	ASSESSMENT
Google Business Profile  67	D ⁺	The reputation is outstanding and one field is empty: there is no link to your website on the profile. That single gap is what pulls this row down.
Website quality  58	F	One page for seven services, no structured data, no canonical tag and 2 competing main headlines.
Local search visibility  74	C	First in the map pack and top of the plain results, on a site that gives a search engine almost nothing to work with. The rankings are real and they are not resting on much.
Turning visitors into customers  77	C ⁺	Click-to-call is done properly. Your address and hours are not published in a form a search engine can read.
OVERALL  69 D⁺

Each row is the straight average of the graded checks in the sections covering it, and the overall is the average of the four rows. Every check and its number is printed in sections 03 through 06. Letters follow the ordinary school band, so 93 and above is an A, the eighties are Bs, the seventies Cs, the sixties Ds, and anything under 60 is an F. We did not soften it, and we did not inflate it because you rank well either.

■ WHAT WE WOULD FIX, IN ORDER

1 Put your website on your Google listing	4 Write the page about Highland Village
2 Give each treatment a page of its own	5 Put your reviews on your own site, and answer the ones that come in
3 Publish the code that tells Google what you are	6 Reach the clients you already have

01 is the free do-it-yourself list, 03 and 04 grade each piece, 05 works through the 6 fixes, 06 is who we are and what we charge.

01 Fixes You Can Make Yourself, Free

■ SIX THINGS YOU CAN FIX YOURSELF, WITHOUT PAYING ANYBODY

This audit is yours to use however you want, with us or without us. The first item takes about a minute and it is the most valuable thing in the whole report. We put this page first on purpose. Everything from here down is the diagnosis. This is the part you can act on before you finish reading.

01 Put your website on your Google listing

1 Your profile carries no link to onyxnailbarhighlandvillage.com. You are first in the map pack with 694 reviews, which means Google is handing you the most valuable position in local search and the person who taps it has no route to your site. They can call you or get directions, and that is the whole menu. Sign in to your Business Profile, add the website field, save. It takes a minute, it costs nothing, and nothing else on this list moves as much.

02 Cut down to one main headline

2 There are 2 main headlines on your homepage. A search engine reads the main headline to work out what the page is about and it is built to find one of them. With two, the signal splits and Google decides for itself. Keep the one that names what you do and where you are, and step the other one down a level. Whoever maintains the site can do this in a few minutes.

03 Give each service its own page

3 Pedicure, manicure, dipping, gel, acrylic and solar, waxing and polish change all live on one page. Google ranks pages, not salons, so it will always prefer a page written about gel nails over a page that lists gel nails. You already rank first for a gel search, which tells you how much goodwill you are carrying. A page each is how you stop carrying it uphill.

04 Write a page about Highland Village

4 There are 0 pages on your site about the town you are in. Your title names it, which is a good start, but a page that says where you are, which centre you are in and who you look after is what a search engine hands to somebody searching nearby. It is also what a first-time client reads when they are deciding whether you are worth the drive.

05 Quote your own reviews on your own site

5 You have 694 of them at 4.5 and your website borrows none of that. Copy a handful onto the page with the client's first name. It costs nothing and it is more persuasive than any sentence a copywriter could write for you.

06 Reply to the reviews as they come in

6 Replying is free, it is public, and most salons do not bother. A rating of 4.5 across 694 reviews means a meaningful number of visits did not go the way somebody wanted, and the reply is where you answer that in front of everyone who reads it later. Answer the unhappy ones first and answer them properly.

■ WHERE YOU STAND TODAY

Read this one differently from most audits. Nothing here says you cannot be found. On 4 August 2026 you were first in the nail salon map pack in Highland Village, first on the plain results for a manicure and pedicure search, first for a gel nails search and second for a nail salon search. That is as good a position as any business in this town holds, and 694 reviews at 4.5 are the reason for it. The gap is on the other side of the click. Your Google listing does not carry a link to your website, so the traffic Google sends you arrives at a profile with two options on it, a call or directions, and no way through to anything you control. When somebody does reach your site, it is a single page carrying seven services, with no structured data of any kind, no canonical tag and 2 competing main headlines. There is no page about Highland Village and no page about any individual service. So the picture is not a business that cannot be found. It is a business whose reputation is doing all of the work and whose website is doing almost none of it, which is a much better problem to have and a much cheaper one to fix.

03 Google Business Profile Audit

This profile is the strongest asset in the audit and it has one field empty. The number beside each check is what it contributes to the 67 on page two.

ELEMENT	GRADE	SCORE	ASSESSMENT
Rating	B	 85	4.5 across a very large number of visits. For a salon that turns over as many clients as yours does, that is a good number and it is the one a stranger judges you on.
Review volume	A	 96	694 reviews. That is an unusual amount of feedback for a single location and it is the reason your listing outranks everybody else's.

ELEMENT	GRADE	SCORE	ASSESSMENT
Website link	F	 20	Your profile carries no link to your website. The most visited thing you own has no route through to the thing you own outright.

Detailed findings

What the missing link actually costs

Picture what the top map slot buys you. Somebody in Highland Village searches for a nail salon, your listing is the first one, and they tap it. On that screen they can call you or they can get directions. That is it. Everything you might have said about the services, the prices, the booking, the reasons to choose you over the salon down the road, none of it is reachable, because the field that would take them there is empty. This is one form field on a page you already control, and it is the highest-return minute of work anywhere in this document.

What we could not see, and are not going to guess at

We did not sign in to your account, so we do not know what state the description, the services list, the photos or the posts are in, and we are not going to tell you they are empty when we have not looked. We also did not check whether the profile is claimed or verified, so nothing in this report says anything about that either. Sign in and read each section. If they are already full, ignore this line.

How you compare locally We are not handing you a competitor comparison, because on the searches we ran there was nobody above you to compare against. You are first in the map pack and first or second on the plain results. The comparison worth making is between your listing and your website. One of them is doing the work of an entire marketing department. The other is one page that the first one does not even link to.

04 Website & SEO Audit

■ TECHNICAL & FOUNDATIONS

This is the plumbing a search engine needs before it can understand a site. These five checks and the four in the next block are what average out to the 58 on page two.

ELEMENT	GRADE	SCORE	ASSESSMENT
Mobile setup	B ⁻	 80	The page tells a browser to lay itself out at the width of the device, which is the right instruction and the one most old sites get wrong. We did not open the site on a phone, so we are not going to describe what it looks like there.
Structured data (schema)	F	 10	0 blocks of structured data anywhere on the site. That is the hidden code that tells a search engine your address, your hours, your phone number and what kind of business you are. Yours tells it none of that.

ELEMENT	GRADE	SCORE	ASSESSMENT
Canonical tag	F	39	0 canonical tags. That is one line of code naming the official address of a page, so that a page cannot end up competing against copies of itself. On a one-page site it costs you little today. It costs you more the moment you add pages, which is the first thing this report asks you to do.
Heading structure	C-	70	2 main headlines on the homepage. A search engine expects one and reads it to decide what the page is about. With two, it decides for itself.
Secure connection	B+	88	The site is served over HTTPS with a valid certificate, so no browser is going to warn a client away from it.

Detailed findings

Nothing on this site tells Google what you are

There are 0 blocks of structured data on the site. Structured data is a small piece of hidden code that spells out the plain facts of a business: that this is a nail salon, at this address in this centre, on this phone number, open at these hours. Search engines lean on it heavily for local businesses because it takes the guessing out. Yours publishes none of it. Everything Google knows about your salon it knows from your Google listing and from the words on one page, which is exactly why the listing is carrying this business and the site is not.

The bones are fine, there is just one bone

We want to be fair about this, because plenty of the sites we audit are broken in ways yours is not. The page is served securely, it is told to lay out at device width, nearly every image on it carries a written description, and the phone number is tappable in several places. Somebody built this competently. What it is missing is not quality. It is quantity: one page, no service pages, no location page, and no structured data underneath any of it.

■ ON-PAGE & CONTENT

This is what a person and a search engine actually read once they arrive. These four checks and the five above average out to the 58 on page two.

ELEMENT	GRADE	SCORE	ASSESSMENT
Content depth	C	75	There is a real amount of writing on the homepage, which is more than most one-page sites manage. It is all in one place, so nothing in it goes deep on anything.
Service pages	F	15	0 pages for any individual service. Seven services share a single page, and every one of them is a phrase somebody types with the town attached.

ELEMENT	GRADE	SCORE	ASSESSMENT
Image alt text	A ⁻	 90	Nearly every image on the page carries a written description, which is how a search engine reads a photograph and how a client using a screen reader hears it. This is done properly and it usually is not.
Location content	F	 55	0 pages about Highland Village. Your title names the town, which counts for something, but there is no page making the case.

Detailed findings

One page is holding up an entire salon

Pedicure, manicure, dipping, gel, acrylic and solar, waxing and polish change all sit on the same page. Google ranks pages rather than businesses, so a page written about gel nails will always beat a page that mentions gel nails in a list. Here is the part worth sitting with: you rank first for a gel search anyway. That is not the page winning. That is 694 reviews and a map listing dragging the page up behind them. Give each service a page of its own and you stop asking your reputation to do the work the website should be doing.

The page a nearby searcher never gets handed

There are 0 pages about Highland Village. A location page is not a trick and it is not written for a machine. It is where you say which centre you are in, which roads you are near and who you look after, which is exactly the question a search engine is trying to answer for somebody standing nearby with a phone. You already hold the positions this page would normally be built to win, so this one is less about rankings and more about the client reading it and deciding you are worth the drive.

■ LOCAL SEO & RANKINGS

Every search below was run by hand on 4 August 2026. This is the strongest row in your report and it deserves reading before the grades. These four checks average out to the 74 on page two.

ELEMENT	GRADE	SCORE	ASSESSMENT
Map position	A	 97	First in the nail salon map pack in Highland Village. That is the most valuable position in local search and you hold it outright.
Rankings on the plain results	A	 96	First for a manicure and pedicure search, first for a gel nails search, and second for a nail salon search. All three in Highland Village, all three checked by hand.
Business details a search engine can read	D	 63	Your address is published on the page as text, which is good, but 0 blocks of structured data means it is not published anywhere a search engine can read it directly.
What you have to answer those searches with	F	 40	Three different searches, all won, all landing on the same single page. There is no page written to answer any one of them.

Checked by hand, 4 August 2026

SEARCH	YOUR WEBSITE	WHAT WE SAW
nail salon highland village tx, map results	Not applicable	Your profile takes the first map slot
manicure pedicure highland village tx	Ranks first	Top of the plain results
gel nails highland village tx	Ranks first	Top of the plain results
nail salon highland village tx	Ranks second	Second on the plain results

Detailed findings

You are not hiding, so read the rest of this report accordingly

Most audits we write are explaining to an owner why nobody can find them. This is not that. On every search we ran you were first or second, and the map pack is yours. If any line in this document reads as though you are invisible on Google, we have written it badly, because the measurements say the opposite. What the low rows are measuring is what your website contributes, and the answer is that it contributes very little, which is a different problem with a different fix.

Rankings this good on a site this thin are borrowed, not owned

It is worth understanding where these positions come from. A search engine weighs a great many things, and two of the heaviest for a local business are the strength of the Google listing and the quality of the page. Your listing is exceptional: 694 reviews at 4.5 and the top map slot. Your page has no structured data, no canonical tag, 2 main headlines and nothing written specifically about any service or the town. So the positions are being carried by the reputation. That works, and it has been working. It is also the part you have the least control over, because Google owns the listing and you own the website. Building the site out is how you stop renting the ground you are standing on.

■ TURNING VISITORS INTO CUSTOMERS

Being found only counts if the visitor can then do something, whether that is call, work out where you are, or decide you are the right salon. These four checks average out to the 77 on page two.

ELEMENT	GRADE	SCORE	ASSESSMENT
Click-to-call	A	 95	Your phone number is a link in several places on the page, so on a phone it is something to press rather than something to copy out. This is the most commonly missing item we check and you have it.
Photographs	B+	 88	There are a lot of images on the page and nearly all of them carry a written description. For a trade where the client is buying a result they can see, having the pictures there is most of the job.

ELEMENT	GRADE	SCORE	ASSESSMENT
Address and hours a search engine can read	F	 45	The address is on the page as text, and there are 0 blocks of structured data, so a search engine is not being handed your address or your hours in the form it prefers to read them.
Enough on the page to decide	B-	 80	The services are named, the number is there and the pictures are there. What is missing is the depth: nothing about what any individual service involves, and none of your 694 reviews quoted anywhere on your own site.

Detailed findings

The click is where your report actually turns

Everything in section 05 says the traffic arrives. This section is about what it meets. If it came from the map pack, it never reaches your website at all, because the listing has no link on it. If it came from the plain results, it lands on one page carrying seven services, with no reviews quoted and nothing written in depth about the treatment they searched for. Neither of those is a broken website. Both of them are a website that stops just short of finishing the sale, which is a very different repair job from the ones most of these audits describe.

What we could not see from outside

We did not call the number, we did not try to book, and we have no idea what happens to somebody who rings while every chair is full. In a salon that is usually where the bigger money is, and none of it can be audited from a laptop. We would rather write those down as questions for the sit-down than invent findings about them.

05 Your Growth Plan

Most of the proposals we send open by explaining to an owner why nobody can find them. Yours does not, because everybody can find you. You hold the first map slot for a nail salon in Highland Village, you are first on the plain results for two of the three searches we ran and second on the third, and 694 reviews at 4.5 are the reason. The gap in this one sits entirely on the other side of the click. Your Google listing carries no link to your website, so the traffic Google hands you arrives at a profile that offers a call or directions and nothing else, and the site it would send them to is one page. The first item below takes about a minute and costs nothing. Two of the six are free in full and we say so where that applies.

Six fixes, in the order we would do them. Each one is a finding from your audit, what it costs you while it sits there, and what we would do about it.

1 The profile carries no link to onyxnailbarhighlandvillage.com

Think about what the top map slot actually buys you. Somebody in Highland Village searches for a nail salon, your listing is the first thing on the screen, and they tap it. From there they can ring you or they can get directions. That is the entire menu. Everything you might have said about the treatments, the pictures, the reasons to pick you over the salon down the road, none of it is reachable, because the field that would take them there is empty. This is the highest-return minute of work anywhere in either document we have sent you.

OUR FIX Sign in to your Business Profile, put the website address in the website field, save it. That is the whole job. It is item one on your free list and we would rather you did it today than waited to hire anybody.

THE RESULT The most valuable position in local search finally leads somewhere you control.

2 Seven services share a single page, and there are 2 main headlines on it

Google ranks pages, not salons. A page written about gel nails will always beat a page that mentions gel nails in a list. Here is the part worth sitting with: you rank first for a gel search anyway. That is not the page winning, that is 694 reviews and a map listing carrying the page uphill. Every treatment you offer is a phrase somebody types with the town attached, and right now there is one page trying to answer all of them at once.

OUR FIX A page for each treatment worth ranking for, written the way you would explain it to a client at the front desk rather than the way a copywriter writes for a search engine. While we are in there, the second main headline steps down a level so the page says one thing on purpose. This is the largest piece of work in the plan and the one we would be doing month after month.

THE RESULT Each search gets a page written to answer it, instead of your reputation doing the lifting.

3 0 blocks of structured data and 0 canonical tags on the site

Structured data is a small piece of hidden code spelling out the plain facts of a business: that this is a nail salon, at this address in this centre, on this number, open at these hours. Search engines lean on it heavily for local businesses because it takes the guessing out of it. Yours publishes none. Everything Google knows about your salon it knows from your listing and from the words on one page, which is exactly why the listing is carrying this business and the website is not. The missing canonical tag costs you almost nothing today on a single page. It starts costing you the moment you add the pages this plan is built around.

OUR FIX Write the structured data properly, publish it site-wide, and put a canonical tag on every page as it goes up. This is not visible to a client and it is not glamorous. It is the difference between a search engine reading your details and a search engine guessing at them.

THE RESULT Your address, your number and what you do are published in the form Google prefers to read.

4 0 pages on the site about the town you are in

Your title names the town, which counts for something and is more than most sites manage. But there is no page making the case: which centre you are in, which roads you are near, who you look after. You already hold the positions a page like this is normally built to win, so we are not going to pretend it is a ranking emergency. It matters for a different reason. It is the page a first-time client reads while deciding whether you are worth the drive, and at the moment they read a list of treatments instead.

OUR FIX One page that says where you are and who you serve, with a map on it, written for the person reading rather than the machine indexing.

THE RESULT The stranger deciding between you and somewhere closer has something to read.

5 694 reviews at 4.5, and your website borrows none of it

You have the largest body of feedback in this batch of audits and none of it appears on the thing you own. A visitor who arrives from the plain results sees the treatments and the pictures and has to take your word for the rest. The other half of this is the replying. A 4.5 across that many visits means a meaningful number of them did not go the way somebody wanted, and the reply is where you answer that in front of everybody who reads it later. Most salons do not bother, which is precisely why it works.

OUR FIX Copy a handful of reviews onto the page with the client's first name on them, and reply to what comes in. The whole of this item is free and it is items five and six on your section 01 list. Answer the unhappy ones first and answer them properly. Do it yourself and keep the money.

THE RESULT The reputation that is already winning you the search starts working on the page as well.

6 694 reviews from people who came in at least once, and no visible way to reach any of them again

We want to flag this one clearly: it is an inference, not a finding. We cannot see your booking records from outside. What we can see is a business whose economics run on people coming back every few weeks, and no sign on the public side of a list, a membership, a rebooking prompt or anything that reaches somebody who has not been in since spring. If you already run all of that, say so at the sit-down and we will take it off the plan and off the price.

OUR FIX Every client in one place, rebooking and win-back messages that go out on a schedule instead of when somebody remembers, and enquiry follow-up in minutes rather than whenever the inbox gets checked.

THE RESULT The people who already liked it enough to review you hear from you again without anybody having to remember.

06 Who We Are & What It Costs

■ WHO IS SENDING YOU THIS

Top Shelf Solutions builds and runs the online side of small businesses in North Texas. Websites and local SEO are where most people meet us, but the work usually ends up broader than that, because the website is rarely the only gap. We do all of the following, and a business your size normally uses four or five of them rather than all ten. Two of the businesses running on this are Your Neighborhood GDR and TAP Services. Both of those are ours, which is the reason we can show you the whole thing working instead of handing you a testimonial. If you want to talk to either of them, ask at the sit-down and we will put you in touch.

■ WHY THIS ONE, FOR ONYX NAIL BAR SPECIFICALLY

The new website, and what we would actually be replacing	Two things need saying straight before the rest of this list. The first is that your site is not broken. It is served securely, it is told to lay itself out at the width of the device, nearly every image carries a written description, and the number is tappable in several places, which is the item most sites miss. Somebody built this competently. The second is that there is one page of it, carrying seven treatments, with no structured data underneath and nothing written about the town. So a rebuild here is not us fixing your website. It is us writing the pages that were never written, on top of a foundation that already works. The plan describes a five page site. In your case the count is not the interesting number, the writing is, and if the treatments you want covered run past that we sort it out at the sit-down rather than after you have signed.
Your Google profile	694 reviews at 4.5 and the first map slot is the strongest listing in this batch of audits, and it has one field empty. Adding the website link is free and it is item one on your section 01 list, so please do it whether or not you ever hire us. What we would do beyond that is the finishing and the protecting. We did not sign in to your account, so the description, the services section and the photos are unknown to us and we are not going to invent findings about them.
Advanced SEO	This is the part you are actually buying, and your case is unusual. Most owners hire us to get found. You are already found. What you are buying is ownership of it. The positions you hold are being carried by the listing and the reviews, which is the part of this Google controls, on a page that gives a search engine almost nothing of its own. The pages for each treatment, the page about Highland Village, and the structured data underneath are how the rankings stop being borrowed. That work cannot be done in an afternoon and it cannot be done once.
Reviews, both ways	You already have the volume, so this is not about collecting more for the sake of it. It is about keeping the number climbing on a schedule rather than by luck, and about replying, which almost nobody does. A 4.5 means a meaningful number of visits did not land right, and the reply is the only part of that a future client ever sees.
AI Receptionist	We could not test this from outside, so treat it as a question rather than a finding. A salon with a full room cannot answer the phone, and calls after closing go somewhere. The receptionist is software rather than a person. It answers every time, books into your calendar, and texts back anything it cannot handle so a real answer follows in the morning.
CRM and rebooking	This one is an inference, not a finding, and we would rather label it than dress it up. Your business runs on people coming back every few weeks and we cannot see whether anything reaches them between visits. If you already keep a list and run rebooking properly, say so and we will take it off the plan and off the price conversation.

This is the plan most businesses start on, and it is the one we would put you on, because the parts of your growth plan that are not free live inside it. There is a smaller plan below it at $499. It builds the website and hosts it, and then leaves out everything that keeps working after the site goes live: SEO worked every month, review responses written and posted for you, the client list and the rebooking campaigns, a receptionist covering the hours a salon cannot answer the phone, and enquiry follow-up in under five minutes. In your case that missing half is the actual job, because the website is not what is broken so much as what is absent. There is a larger plan above it at $1,599. What it mainly adds is paid advertising, and we would rather you did not buy that yet. You are first in the map pack and first or second on every search we ran, without paying for any of it. Buying traffic to send at a one page site would be paying for a problem you already do not have. Build the pages first. If you still want ads after that, step up then and we will make the case with your own numbers instead of a promise. One more thing owners ask, so we will answer it before you have to. The audit in your hands and the sample site we built you are what we do before anybody pays us anything. If the sit-down turns up something different, we will tell you that instead.

This is only the part we can see from the outside.

Everything in this document came from what is publicly visible: your listing, your homepage, your rankings. We did not call the number, we did not try to book, and we have no idea what happens to somebody who rings while every chair is full. In a salon that is usually where the bigger money is. Calls that come in on a Saturday afternoon. Clients who meant to rebook at the desk and did not. 694 reviews from people whose phone numbers we have no way of knowing you have. Give us 20 minutes, at the salon or on the phone, and we will go through those with you and tell you which ones are worth doing and which are not. The audit is free and yours to use however you want, with us or without us.

Let's set up your sit-down.
