■ PREPARED FOR

Reids Auto Connection

Website Audit & Growth Plan · Used car dealer, bankruptcy and bad-credit auto financing

A free, no-obligation look at how Reids shows up online today, and what we would do about it.

■ THE SHORT VERSION

Your Google listing is doing all the work. A 4.7 from 200 reviews, and it earns you the number one spot when somebody searches your name. The website behind it is a three-page site from an earlier era of the web, and for every search that is not your name, you do not show up at all.

■ WHAT IS ALREADY WORKING

- A 4.7 rating from 200 Google reviews, which is real trust that most dealers in Lewisville never build.
- The Google listing is claimed, and its name, address, phone, and hours are accurate and match your records.
- The site says plainly that you are veteran-owned, and it names a program most dealers will not touch, bankruptcy and bad-credit financing.

DIMENSION	GRADE	ASSESSMENT
Google Business Profile  66	C	Claimed, accurate, and carrying a 4.7 from 200 reviews. It ranks first for your name and nowhere for anything else.
Website quality  24	F	A hand-built three-page site with no headline, no description Google can use, misspelled titles, and three pages that 404.
Local search visibility  33	F	Absent from the map pack and from the plain results in all six non-branded searches we ran.
Turning visitors into customers  20	F	No form, no address or hours on the page, no inventory to browse, and a phone number you cannot tap to call.
OVERALL  36	D-

Each row is the straight average of the graded checks in the section covering it, and the overall is the average of the four rows. Website quality combines the Technical and On-Page checks. Every check and its number is printed in sections 03 and 04.

■ WHAT WE WOULD FIX, IN ORDER

1 Give Google a real website to read	4 Make it possible to contact you
2 Build the pages that win the searches	5 Finish and feed your Google listing

3 Put your inventory online6 Put your 200 reviews and your story to work

01 is the free do-it-yourself list, 03 and 04 grade each piece, 05 works through the 6 fixes, 06 is who we are and what we charge.

01 Fixes You Can Make Yourself, Free

■ TEN THINGS YOU CAN FIX THIS WEEK WITHOUT PAYING ANYBODY

This audit is yours to use however you want, with us or without us. So here is the part that needs no developer and no money, only somebody with the Google login and access to the site. We put it first on purpose. Everything from here down is the diagnosis; this page is the part you can act on before you finish reading.

01 Fix the typo in your homepage title and add your city

1 Your homepage title reads Welcome to Reids Autoconnection - Backruptcy Financing Specialists. Backruptcy is misspelled, it is the first line Google shows for your link, and it does not say Lewisville or used cars. Rewriting it is a text field, not a redesign.

02 Fix the typo in your meta description too

2 The grey line of text Google shows under your link carries Low Milage, misspelled. It is the second thing a searcher reads about you, and right now it has a spelling error in it.

03 Put your address and hours on the website

3 Neither one appears anywhere on the site. Your Google listing has them and your website does not, which is a mismatch Google notices and a question every first-time visitor has to leave the site to answer.

04 Make your phone number tappable

4 The number sits on the page as plain text. On a phone, a tappable number calls you in one tap. As plain text, a shopper has to memorize it or copy it, and many just leave.

5 The photos page never got a real title, so it still carries the editor's default, New Page 1. It is a small thing that tells Google, and anybody who lands there, that the page was never finished.

06 Write alt text for your homepage images

6 The homepage leans on 21 images and not one of them has alt text, the short written description that tells Google what a picture shows. Most of your sales copy lives inside those images, so to Google the page is nearly blank.

07 Quote a few of your 200 Google reviews on the homepage

7 You have 200 of them and not one appears on the site. Copying three onto the homepage with the reviewer's first name costs nothing and reads better than anything a copywriter would invent.

08 Refresh the description on your Google listing

8 This is free space in the Google dashboard to say in your own words that you finance customers through Chapter 7 and Chapter 13 bankruptcy and bad credit in Lewisville. Make sure it names those things, because those are the words people search.

Post to your Google listing regularly

Google Posts are one of the few free levers that move a listing. New arrivals, a note about your bankruptcy and bad-credit financing, an approved customer driving off. A listing that posts looks tended, and a tended listing is the one Google trusts.

10

Turn off the right-click blocker on the site

The site runs a script that disables right-click. It stops nobody from copying anything, it is a relic of the era the site was built in, and to a modern visitor it reads as clumsy. Removing it is deleting a few lines.

■ WHERE YOU STAND TODAY

Reids has the hard part, the part most dealers never get. A 4.7 from 200 Google reviews is real, earned trust, and it puts you first the moment somebody types your name. The website behind that reputation has not kept up with it. It is three hand-built pages from an earlier era of the web, with a table layout, text baked into images, two misspelled titles, a photo page still named New Page 1, and three more pages, contact, about, and inventory, that simply return an error. There is no inventory a customer can browse, no address or hours on the page, and no way to reach you except a phone number you cannot tap. The result is that for every search except your own name, a dealer with a 4.7 and 200 reviews does not appear at all. All of it is fixable, and the reputation that would make the fixes pay off is already in the bank.

03 Google Business Profile Audit

Your Google Business Profile is the best thing you own online, and it is carrying the whole business right now. Someone who already knows the name Reids finds you first, sees a 4.7 from 200 reviews, and gets accurate hours and directions. That is worth protecting. Below is where the listing is strong and where it is leaving something on the table. The number beside each check is what it contributes to the 66 on page two. A few of these we could not confirm from outside the dashboard, and we grade those conservatively and say so rather than guess.

ELEMENT	GRADE	SCORE	ASSESSMENT
Business info and hours	A-	90	Name, address, phone, and hours are accurate on the listing and match your records. That is a solid foundation and more than many dealers manage.
Primary category	B	82	Set to Used car dealer, which is correct. A second category naming your financing niche would help you surface for the bad-credit searches, and we could not see whether one is set.

ELEMENT	GRADE	SCORE	ASSESSMENT
Reviews and rating	A-	 88	A 4.7 from 200 reviews. Nothing else you own online comes close to this, and it is the reason the listing wins your name.
Business description	C	 60	We could not confirm from outside whether the description is filled in. If it is blank or thin, it is free space to name bankruptcy financing, bad credit, and Lewisville in your own words.
Products and services	C-	 55	A used-car dealer can list financing services and vehicles on the listing, and Google will show them. We could not confirm from outside how much of yours is filled in.
Photos and media	C	 70	Photos are present on the listing. We did not count them or check how recent they are, so treat this as a reminder to keep them current rather than a finding.
Google Posts	C-	 55	We could not confirm any recent posting activity from outside. Posts are free and they move a listing, so if this is quiet, it is an easy lever to start pulling.
Map pack visibility	F	 25	Absent from the local map pack in all six non-branded searches we ran on 4 August 2026. Triple J's Auto Sales, at 757 S Mill St with 35 reviews, appears for buy here pay here Lewisville and you, at 867 S Mill St with 200, do not.

Detailed findings

A 4.7 from 200 reviews that the map pack is not rewarding

Your rating and review count would carry most listings straight into the top three of the map pack for the searches that matter. Yours does not appear in it at all for anything but your name. That gap is not about the reviews, which are excellent. It is about the signals that sit around them, the category detail on the listing and the website that is supposed to back it up, and right now both are thin. The reputation is built. It is being under-used.

A dealer on your own street, with a fraction of your reviews, is beating you Search buy here pay here Lewisville and Triple J's Auto Sales appears in the results. They sit at 757 S Mill St, the same street as you, with 35 reviews against your 200. They are not out-rated. They show up because they have a modern, crawlable website sending Google clear signals about what they are and where, and you have three hand-built pages that send almost none.

How you compare locally On rating you match or beat the dealers ranking above you. Lewisville Autoplex sits at 4.8 with about 1,400 reviews, Tex-Mex Auto Sales at 4.4 with 229, and Triple J's at 4.4 with 35. Your 4.7 is right there with the best of them on quality. The difference is not the reputation, it is what surrounds it. Autoplex wins on sheer review volume plus an inventory website. Tex-Mex wins with bad-credit landing copy Google can actually read as text. Triple J's wins with a crawlable site on the same street you are on. You have the rating they would want and none of the machinery underneath it.

04 Website & SEO Audit

■ TECHNICAL & FOUNDATIONS

This is the plumbing Google needs before it can understand the site at all. Almost none of it is here, and the site itself was built in an era that predates most of it. These seven checks and the six in the next block are what average out to the 24 on page two.

ELEMENT	GRADE	SCORE	ASSESSMENT
Page title	F	 22	The homepage title is Welcome to Reids Autoconnection - Backruptcy Financing Specialists, with Backruptcy misspelled, no city, and no plain words like used cars.
Meta description	F	 25	The grey line of text under your link carries a Low Milage typo and reads like a keyword list rather than a sentence a person would want to click.
Heading structure	F	 15	The homepage has zero H1 tags, the main headline Google reads first. The headings you see are large fonts styled to look like headings, which Google does not read the same way.
Structured data	F	 15	Schema is a block of hidden code that spells out your address, hours, and that you are a car dealer. You have none of any kind, so Google is left to guess all of it.
Mobile and viewport	F	 20	There is no viewport tag and the layout is locked to a fixed 854 pixel width, so on a phone the whole desktop page loads shrunk to fit, with text too small to read or tap.
HTTPS and SSL	B	 82	The site loads over a valid secure connection. This is the one piece of the technical foundation that is genuinely in good shape.
Broken pages	F	 20	The addresses for a contact page, an about page, and an inventory page all return a 404 error. Three of the pages a dealer site is expected to have do not exist.

Detailed findings

The site is a hand-built page from an earlier era of the web

Under the hood it is a table layout with a tiled background image, text set in old font tags, no character encoding declared, and a copyright line reading 2019 to 2026. These are the marks of a site hand-assembled years ago in a page editor and left largely untouched since. None of that is a moral failing, plenty of good businesses have one, but Google reads a site like this the way you would read a fax in a room full of websites, and it ranks it accordingly.

Two of the three pages read as never finished

The photos page still carries the title New Page 1, which is the default a page editor gives a file before anyone renames it. The homepage title and its description each contain a spelling error, Bankruptcy and Milage. Individually these are tiny. Together they are the first things a search engine and a first-time visitor both see, and they say the site was set up quickly and never revisited.

■ ON-PAGE & CONTENT

Google ranks pages for the words on them, and there are almost no words here for it to read. Most of what the site says is locked inside pictures, and the pages that would actually rank do not exist.

ELEMENT	GRADE	SCORE	ASSESSMENT
Content depth	F	18	The homepage leans on 21 images with the selling points painted into them. To Google, which reads text and not pictures, the page is nearly empty.
Inventory and vehicle pages	F	10	There is no inventory a search engine can read. The Gallery page loads a third-party media widget with no crawlable listings, so the one thing a car shopper comes for is invisible to Google.
Image SEO	F	15	Twenty-one images on the homepage and not one has alt text. Since your message lives inside those images, Google cannot see your message at all.
Location and financing pages	F	15	There is no page for used cars in Lewisville and no page about bad-credit or bankruptcy financing written in real text. Those are exactly the pages your competitors have and rank with.
Keyword targeting	F	20	You specialize in something most dealers avoid, financing through bankruptcy and bad credit, and there is no page written for it. A franchise dealer nearby ranks for a fresh-start financing page because they built one and you have not.
Navigation	D	40	The homepage links to two places, the application and the gallery. There is no About, no Contact, no Inventory, and no Financing, so there is nowhere for a visitor or Google to go.

Detailed findings

Your best sales copy is trapped inside images

The strongest things you say, that you are veteran-owned, that you specialize in bankruptcy and bad-credit financing, are painted into image files rather than written as text. A person can read them. Google cannot. So the exact phrases that would win you the bad-credit searches are sitting on your homepage in a form the search engine is blind to. Retyping them as plain text is one of the highest-return hours anyone could spend on this site.

The pages that would rank do not exist

The searches you should own are bankruptcy auto loans, bad-credit dealership, first-time buyer financing. Winning them takes a real page for each, written in plain language, in the city you serve. You have none of them. A franchise dealer like Clay Cooley ranks for a fresh-start financing page, because they built one and you have not. This is the most fixable gap in the whole report and the one most likely to bring in a stranger.

■ LOCAL SEO & RANKINGS

This is the clearest picture in the report, and the hardest to look at. Your name ranks first. Everything else ranks nowhere. Every rank below was checked by hand on 4 August 2026, and these six checks average out to the 33 on page two.

ELEMENT	GRADE	SCORE	ASSESSMENT
Map pack presence	F	 22	Absent from the local map pack in all six non-branded searches. The three-business box that sits above the plain links never includes you unless the search is your name.
Organic rankings	F	 15	reidscars.com does not appear on the first page of the plain results for any of the six searches. The site simply is not competing.
Location pages	F	 10	None. No page for Lewisville, no page for any neighboring city, nothing for Google to rank locally.
Name, address, phone consistency	C	 60	Your Google listing is internally consistent, which is good. But the website lists no address and no hours at all, so there is nothing on the site to back up the listing, and that inconsistency is a signal Google weighs.
Directory presence	D	 45	Directories and aggregators like Yelp and Cars.com appear for these searches because they have pages built to rank. You have no owned pages competing next to them.
Competitor gap	D+	 48	You match or beat the local competition on rating and lose to them on everything a search engine can see, a crawlable inventory site and, for the biggest of them, sheer review volume.

Checked by hand, 4 August 2026 - where you actually rank

SEARCH	YOUR GOOGLE LISTING	REIDSCARS.COM	WHAT RANKS INSTEAD
buy here pay here Lewisville TX	Not in map pack	Absent	Triple J's Auto Sales, Vaquero Motors, then Yelp
bad credit car dealership Lewisville TX	Not in map pack	Absent	Lewisville Autoplex, Tex-Mex Auto Sales, Triple J's
bankruptcy auto loans Dallas TX	Not in map pack	Absent	First Texas Auto Credit, Dallas Auto Finance, then franchise dealers
no credit financing Lewisville TX	Not in map pack	Absent	Auto City Credit, Yelp, Vaquero Motors, Tex-Mex
used cars Lewisville TX	Not in map pack	Absent	Lewisville Autoplex, Cars.com, the franchise dealers
first time car buyer financing Denton TX	Not in map pack	Absent	Auto Capital, Lake City Investment, Bankers Autos

Detailed findings

You are invisible for everything except your own name

Search your name and you are first, as you should be. Change one word to what a stranger with bad credit would actually type, buy here pay here, bad-credit dealership, bankruptcy auto loans, and you disappear. Not lower down the page. Absent. A dealer with a 4.7 and 200 reviews should never be invisible for the searches that describe exactly what it does, and the reason it is comes down to a website that gives Google nothing to rank.

The dealers beating you are not out-rated, they are out-built

Lewisville Autoplex ranks with roughly 1,400 reviews and a full inventory site. Tex-Mex ranks with bad-credit copy Google can read as text. Triple J's ranks from an address on your own street. Not one of them beats your 4.7. Every one of them beats your website. That is the whole contest, and it is a contest you can win, because the expensive half, the reputation, is already yours.

■ TURNING VISITORS INTO CUSTOMERS

Ranking only matters if the visitor can then do something, call, see a car, work out where you are. On your site almost every one of those next steps is missing or broken, and these six checks average out to the 20 on page two.

ELEMENT	GRADE	SCORE	ASSESSMENT
Contact form	F	 12	There is no contact form anywhere on the site. The only interactive piece is a third-party credit application, and there is no simple way to just ask a question.
Address and hours on the page	F	 15	Neither your address nor your hours appears anywhere on the website. A shopper cannot tell where you are or when you are open without leaving for Google.
Click to call	F	 20	Your phone number is plain text, not a tappable link. On a phone, the single most common action a car shopper takes, tapping to call, does not work.
Inventory to browse	F	 15	There is nothing to shop. A car buyer arrives wanting to see what is on the lot, and the site gives them no browsable inventory at all.
Directions	F	 20	With no address and no map on the site, there is no way to get directions from it. Every visitor who wants to drive over has to go find you somewhere else first.
Trust signals	D	 40	You have 200 reviews and the site quotes none of them. The one strong trust cue, veteran-owned, is buried inside an image instead of said in plain, readable text.

Detailed findings

A car shopper on a phone cannot call you in one tap

Most people find a dealer on their phone. They land on your page, the number is sitting there as plain text, and tapping it does nothing. Because there is no viewport tag either, the whole page is shrunk to fit the screen, so they are pinching to zoom just to read it. That is friction at the exact moment they were ready to act, and friction at that moment sends them back to Google, where three competitors are waiting.

There is nothing to shop, so there is nothing to do

A buyer comes to a dealer's site with three questions. What do you have, where are you, and how do I reach you. The site answers none of them. No inventory to browse, no address or hours, no form, no tappable phone. Someone who wanted to buy a car from you today would have to work to do it, and most will not. Fixing this is not a rankings project, it is the difference between a visitor and a customer.

05 Your Growth Plan

Reids has done the expensive part. A 4.7 from 200 Google reviews is trust you cannot buy, and it already puts you first the moment somebody types your name. What it does not do is bring you the stranger, the person with bad credit typing bad-credit dealership or bankruptcy auto loans into their phone, because for every one of those searches you are absent. The reason is the website, three hand-built pages that give Google almost nothing to rank and give a visitor almost nothing to do. Everything below comes straight out of the audit you just read, in the order we would fix it. A good part of the Google listing work is free and already on your section 01 list, and we say so where it applies.

Six fixes, in the order we would do them. Each one is a finding from your audit, what it costs you while it sits there, and what we would do about it.

1 Your message is trapped inside images and your site is built for a decade Google has moved past

The homepage leans on 21 images with the selling points painted into them, so to a search engine that reads text and not pictures the page is nearly blank. Add a table layout, no headline, no schema, and two misspelled titles, and Google files you below dealers a fraction your size. A 4.7 with 200 reviews should never rank nowhere, and today it does.

OUR FIX A new site built the way search engines expect one, with your actual words as text they can read, a real headline on every page, the code that tells Google you are a car dealer in Lewisville, and titles without typos in them.

THE RESULT For the first time, the reputation you already earned has a website underneath it that Google can actually rank.

2 The pages that would bring you strangers do not exist

There is no page for bad-credit financing, none for bankruptcy, and none for used cars in Lewisville. Those are the exact searches your customers make, and a franchise dealer like Clay Cooley ranks for a fresh-start financing page while you do not, for the simple reason that they built one and you have not.

OUR FIX A real page for each of the searches worth owning, written in plain language for the people who make them, Chapter 7 and Chapter 13 buyers, bad-credit and first-time buyers, all pointed at Lewisville.

THE RESULT Somebody who has never heard the name Reids finds you by searching the problem you solve.

3 A car dealer's website with no cars on it

The one thing a car shopper comes for is what is on the lot, and the site gives them nothing to browse. The gallery loads a widget with no listings a search engine can read, so your inventory helps you neither with Google nor with the visitor standing on the page ready to look.

OUR FIX A proper inventory section where each vehicle is its own readable page with photos, price, and financing, the way every dealer beating you already does it.

THE RESULT Shoppers browse your lot from their couch, and Google finally has real pages to rank.

4 There is no working way to reach you from the website

Your address and hours appear nowhere on the site, there is no contact form, and your phone number is plain text you cannot tap. A shopper on a phone, which is most of them, cannot call you in one tap or tell where you are without leaving for Google, where three competitors are waiting.

OUR FIX A working contact page with a short form, your address and hours on every page, a map, and a tappable phone number instead of plain text.

THE RESULT The people who want to reach you can, on the first try, from their phone.

5 The listing that carries the business is only half fed

The reviews are excellent and the map pack still leaves you out for everything but your name. Part of that is the website, and part is the listing itself, a description and category detail that name your financing niche, and a posting rhythm that keeps it looking tended.

OUR FIX Much of this is free and it is on your section 01 list, so do it yourself and keep the money. The part that keeps needing doing is the rhythm, month after month, new arrivals and approved-customer posts across the listing. Being straight with you, written and published posts sit on the plan above the one we are recommending. It is a few minutes a month with the login you already have, and if you would rather we ran it, say so at the sit-down and we will price it.

THE RESULT The listing that already wins your name starts winning the searches around it too.

6 Your best sales material is sitting on Google, unused

You have 200 reviews and the site quotes none of them. The one thing that sets you apart from the lot down the street, that you are veteran-owned and that you finance people other dealers turn away, is buried inside an image instead of said out loud where a nervous first-time buyer can read it.

OUR FIX Reviews quoted by name across the site, the veteran-owned story told in plain text, and the promise of a fresh start written the way you would say it to somebody sitting across the desk.

THE RESULT The trust you spent years earning is the first thing a stranger sees, not something they have to go to Google to find.

06 Who We Are & What It Costs

■ WHO IS SENDING YOU THIS

Top Shelf Solutions builds and runs the online side of small businesses in North Texas. Websites and local SEO are where most people meet us, but the work usually ends up being broader than that, because the website is rarely the only gap. We do all of the following, and a business your size normally uses four or five of them rather than all ten. Two of the businesses running on this are Your Neighborhood GDR and TAP Services. Both of those are ours, which is why we can show you the whole thing working instead of handing you a testimonial. If you want to talk to either of them, ask at the sit-down and we will put you in touch.

Your website, your domain, your Google profile, your phone numbers, and your customer list are in your name from the first day and you keep all of it if you ever leave. The CRM platform itself stays ours, the same as any software you subscribe to, and your customer data exports whenever you want it.

■ WHY THIS ONE, FOR REIDS SPECIFICALLY

The new website	Yours is three hand-built pages with the sales copy locked inside images, three broken links, and no inventory a shopper can browse. Work starts the day you sign, and the site is live within a week of us getting photos and access from you.
Advanced SEO	You are absent from the map pack and the plain results in all six searches we ran, for terms that describe exactly what you do. Most of this work is building the pages you do not have, bad-credit, bankruptcy, Lewisville used cars, and getting Google to trust them.
Your Google Profile	It is the best thing you own online and it is only half fed. Finishing it is the fastest thing on this list, and section 01 shows you how to do most of it for free.
Reviews, both ways	A 4.7 from 200 reviews already beats the dealers ranking above you. Keeping it growing means asking every buyer every time, and answering the ones you get, which the plan does for you automatically.
AI Receptionist	We could not test this from outside, so treat it as a question rather than a finding. A car buyer often calls after work, after you have closed. If those calls are going unanswered, this is the piece that answers them, and a missed call gets a text back right away.
CRM and reactivation	This one is an inference, not a finding. You have 200 reviews from happy buyers and, as far as we can see, no system to reach any of them when they are due for another car. If you already keep a list, tell us and we will take this off the plan.

This is the plan most businesses start on, and it is the one we would put you on, because all six of the fixes in your growth plan live inside it. There is a smaller plan below it at $499. It builds you the same website at no charge, so the site is not the reason to skip it. What it leaves out is everything that keeps working after the site goes live, SEO worked every month, review responses written and posted for you, the customer database and the campaigns that reach past buyers you currently have no way to contact, a receptionist covering the hours a car buyer actually calls, and lead follow-up in under five minutes. For a dealer sitting on a 4.7 and 200 reviews and ranking nowhere, that ongoing work is the whole point. There is a larger plan above it at $1,599. Unlike some trades, a car dealer can genuinely use what it adds, Google Ads and paid social, so it is worth a real conversation at the sit-down rather than a line in a document. We would start you on the plan that fixes what the audit found, and step up to ads once the foundation underneath them is built, so you are not paying to send traffic to a site that cannot yet convert it. The audit in your hands and the full website we built to show you what yours could be are what we do before anybody pays us anything. If the sit-down turns up something different, we will tell you that instead.

This is only the part we can see from the outside.

Everything in this document came from what is publicly visible, your listing, your site, your rankings. The things we cannot audit from a laptop are usually where the bigger wins are. Calls that come in after you close and go unanswered. Two hundred reviewers who liked you enough to write about it and whose phone numbers you have no way to reach again. Past buyers who are due for another car and never hear from you. Give us 20 minutes, at the lot or on the phone, and we will go through those with you and tell you which ones are worth doing and which are not. The audit is free and yours to use however you want, with us or without us.
